

*Greetings from Bala Cynwyd (but not for long),
As you may already know, Joe and I have been living a stone's throw from Philadelphia. We are fortunate to have rented a house with a room having northern windows that serves as my studio; the basement has become my framing workshop. Meanwhile, my Virginia studio, has been quietly awaiting our return. I am excited to say that on May 1st, we will be returning to Virginia! We will be keeping an apartment in Philadelphia, kindly sparing me the sorrow of having to part with old and new found friends here.
My paintings this year have focused primarily on flowers with an occasional foray into the lovely Pennsylvania countryside where grist mills, stone houses, and ancient trees are a soothing balm for painters' eyes.*

Hoping our paths cross soon!
